Nothing Sold to-day, Friday, but store is open for inspection---

One year ago Schleisner & Klein stirrred this city with a sale that was considered the greatest ever attempted hereabouts---why was it the greatest? Not because it drew crowds, but because every man, woman and child that attended went away satisfied that they had a decided bargain, and had received more for their money than even the advertisement promised. Below we give prices without description---the styles are correct.

Will be greater than ever---bargains are greater
One dollar will be worth three dollars at this sale

Too many goods and too little space have furnished the main incentive for the remarkably low prices that prevail during this sale.
